Referring agencies

When providing emergency food we realise that an individual or family is probably undergoing an underlying crisis.

The Exmouth Community Larder is therefore wanting to create good working relations with partner organisations who will both refer clients who need emergency food and who will support people in escaping from a deeper crisis.

Many people who truly want help are often reluctant to ask for it, which is why we need help from their contacts in the community; the need may become apparent to a school, health visitor, church as well as formal agencies

If you want to join us, combatting food crisis in the Exmouth area, please let us know and we will supply vouchers that can be given to people in need.

Attached is an initial questionnaire. Please return this by email, post or bring it to our centre when open.
